STATELY EDIFICE.

Rapid Progress Being Made in the Erection of St. Anthony's Hospital.

Home For the Sick Where Cool, Fresh Breezes Ever Blow.

Many Rooms Should Be Furnished by the Fraternal Societies.

SEWING SOCIETY DOING NOBLE WORK

Sickness and accidents are the common lot of man. Modern skill and wisdom combine with charity and benevolence to care for the weak, cherish the injured, heal the wounded and soften the pain of those afflicted. Piety and science have now joined hands for the healing of the people, and love, self-abnegation and medical and surgical skill have united everywhere in civilized lands for the aid of the unfortunate. Among the many notable illustrations of these conditions none will be more prominent in the area they care for and the opportunities they offer than the new St. Anthony's Hospital, now nearing completion on Barrett avenue, and which the good Franciscan Sisters hope to soon open to the sick and unfortunate of all creeds and nationalities.

Situated on an elevation high above the level of the streets of Louisville, the hospital is thus afforded conspicuous eligibility for drainage, views of country and charming green dell, and also rests quiet above the city, a home for the sick in the clouds, where fresh, cool breezes ever blow, and where from every room and ward the eyes of the suffering inmates may restfully scan such pleasing pictures as themselves conduce to returning strength and health. Not a window but opens on a grateful view; not a screened porch but shows far and near sights of the recurring loveliness of nature at her best. Those who have passed weary weeks of pain and suffering in hospitals whose windows abutted on either brick walls or stuffy, crowded streets, will easily appreciate what it means to seek for health where nature at her best joins earnestly with skill and science in the relief of pain and the healing of the sick and suffering.

Scarcely a year will have elapsed from the laying of the cornerstone of this stately, noble edifice before the portals are thrown open and the gentle Sisters begin their work for the sick and the injured. The hospital will accommodate hundreds of patients, and will be equipped with bath and toilet rooms and every healthful convenience known to invention or experience. Under the charge of the Franciscan Sisters this institution will know no creed or color, and black or white, Greek, Turk or Gentile, infidel, agnostic, Protestant and Catholic will receive alike the quiet, tender ministrations of the self-abnegating Sisters, whose placid, untroubled lives continue peacefully, and who know no difference in those committed to their charge. With a competent and skillful hospital staff of able and experienced physicians and surgeons; with a splendidly equipped establishment, supplied with everything known to the most advanced circles of modern medicine; with a situation unsurpassed in the whole country as to ventilation, drainage, fresh air and attractive and health-stimulating environments, St. Anthony's will certainly offer every possible advantage to rich and poor alike for the cure of serious diseases, as a retreat for those in an enfeebled or anemic condition, where such care as usually only comes from mother or wife is freely bestowed.

Sister Joseph, from the Franciscan mother house at Lafayette, Ind., was here this week, and expressed herself as both surprised and pleased with the splendid progress being made in the erection of the building and its arrangement. Another gratifying surprise was the great amount of work already performed by the ladies of the St. Anthony Sewing Society. This society is composed of prominent ladies of all the churches of this city, who meet weekly for the purpose of sewing and furnishing the linens for the hospital. It was organized by Mrs. John Walters, Mrs. Frank Geher and other ladies well known for their charity, and now numbers over 1,200 members, who each pay the small sum of ten cents per month for this very laudable object. The next meeting of the society for the collection of dues will take place Monday evening at the home of the Franciscan Sisters, 621 East Gray street, and on Thursday next they will all meet to sew. Those in charge would be delighted if all the ladies enrolled and their friends would be present on both occasions, and it is hoped they will not be disappointed.

Quite a number of fraternal and benevolent societies will, it is understood, furnish rooms which will be named for them, where their sick or disabled members will be cared for. These rooms will be named for the societies that thus contribute to this noble charity, among the number of which will be found the Knights of Columbus, Ancient Order of Hibernians, Young Men's Institute, Catholic Knights of America, the Elks, and perhaps some of the trades unions.

The amount required for this purpose is not large. For each room there should be provided an iron bedstead, leather covered couch and two chairs, washstand and toilet set. Rugs may also be provided for the floor, but no carpets will be used. Now is the time for those who contemplate this noble work to make the fact known, as they will thus be entitled to choice rooms.

CATHOLIC UNION.

Election of Officers and Delegates to the National Federation.

Tomorrow night at Satoli Council Hall on Second street the Catholic Union will meet in regular monthly session for the purpose of electing officers and delegates to the National Federation of Catholic societies, which convenes at Cincinnati on December 10. Delegates are expected from a number of societies heretofore unrepresented, and President McDermott and Secretary Cooney have issued a circular letter fully explaining all matters pertaining to the union and the purposes of the National Federation with which it is proposed to affiliate.

The meetings thus far have been very interesting, and it is hoped that every Catholic Society in Louisville will be represented at Sunday night's meeting. It may not be amiss to state that the work of the union is confined solely to Catholic society interests, social, moral and intellectual, and nothing that has the color of politics or partisanship will be tolerated.

After the Cincinnati convention and the adoption of the constitution and principles by that body the local union will be in a position to do effective work, and it is therefore necessary that able officers should be placed at its head. The services rendered by President McDermott, Dr. J. W. Fowler and Eugene Cooney have been most satisfactory, and it can be safely said they will be unanimously re-elected.

MACKIN COUNCIL

Initiates Eight More Members and Has a Jolly Time.

Notwithstanding the universal interest in the orphans' bazar, the municipal campaign and other affairs which attract the attention of young men, there was a very gratifying attendance Tuesday night at St. Anthony's Hall to witness the initiation of new members into Mackin Council, of whom there should have been seventeen. Only eight candidates were able to be present, however, but they were put through the degrees in a manner that was instructive and pleasing.

President Dan Cuniff occupied the chair, and after the transaction of routine business and reports from the Visiting and other committees had been received Marshal Charles Raidy and his assistants appeared with Messrs. Al Kolb, John A. Ackerman, Frank P. Burke, Hugh J. Higgins, Charles J. Walsh, Michael McCarthy, Frank Elvin, Jr., and Henry Manger, all well known young men, to whom was administered impressively the obligation, after which a recess was taken for the purposes of introductions and congratulations.

There was quite a goodly number of visitors present, New Albany Council having the largest delegation, among whom were noticed President Charles Cheap, Treasurer Pete Pfeffer, Executive Committee men John Burke, Joe Trudeau, Nic Roth and Charles Zellers. Satoli was represented by President Patrick O'Sullivan, who in a happy address announced a big initiation by his council next Monday night and tendered a cordial invitation to all present to be the guests of Satoli on that occasion.

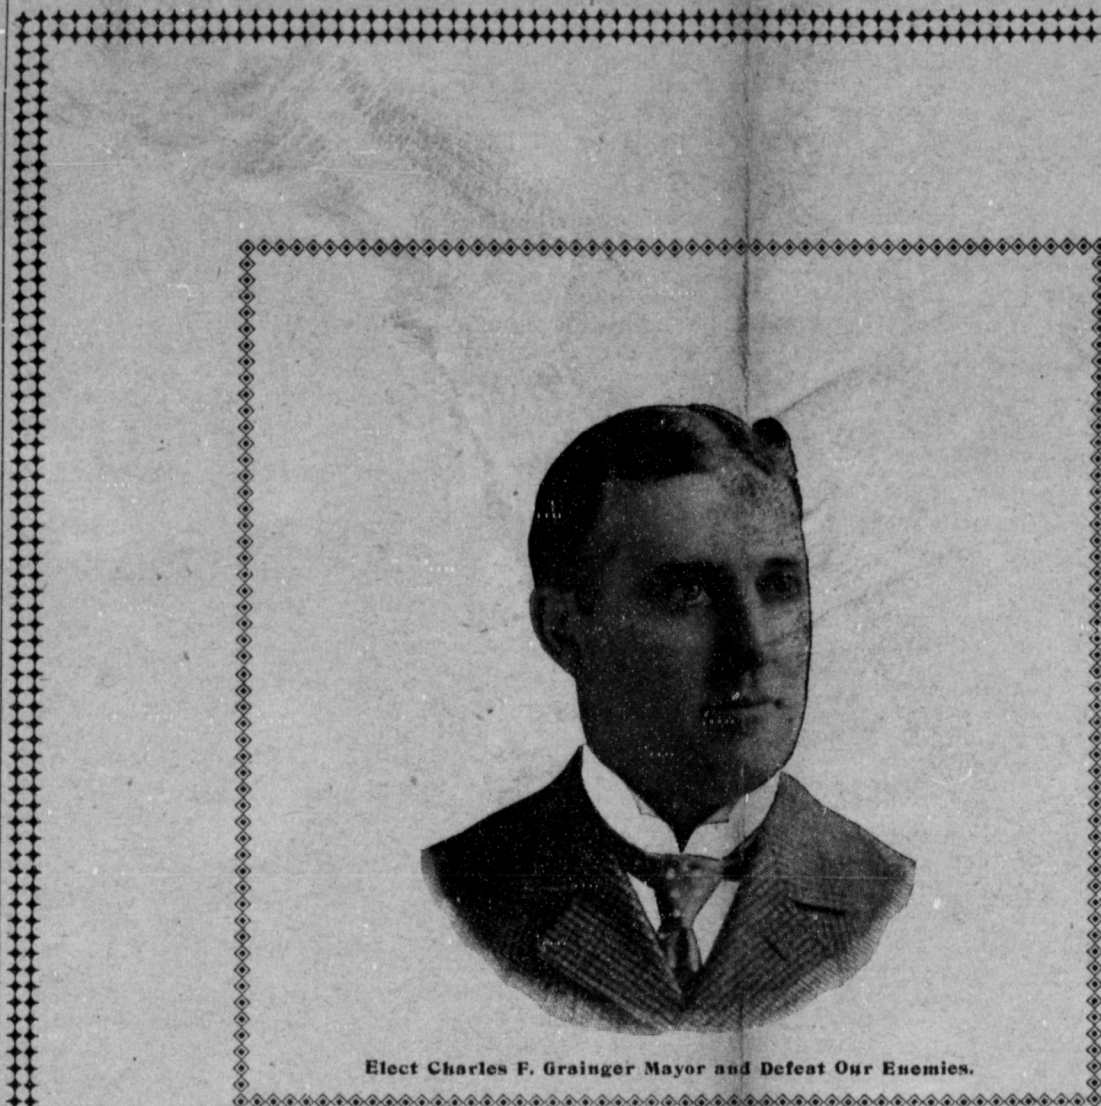

Rumet Slattery, the rising young attorney, Dr. Bentel and Joseph Zahner were called upon for Trinity Council, and the response of each was warmly applauded. Tom Garvey, the special representative of the Ladies' Auxiliary, was there also, and promised a pleasant time to all who would attend the coming dances and eueches to be given under their patronage.

The principal address of the evening was delivered by Augustus Bizot, whose friends hope to see him a member of the next Board of Councilmen. After congratulating the members of Mackin on adding to its roll the names of such worthy men as were just initiated he proceeded to speak upon the various beneficial features of the Young Men's Institute and for half an hour held his auditors spell-bound. Mr. Bizot is a pleasing speaker, much on the order of James J. Fitzgerald, and at the conclusion of his remarks, which made a decided impression on the old as well as the new members, there was a great and long continued outburst of applause.

The other nine candidates will be initiated the latter part of this month, when an open meeting will be held. During the talks cigars were passed around, and so interested and pleased were visitors and members that it was near midnight before adjournment took place.

MEMORIAL SERVICES.

Louisville Council of the Knights of Columbus will hold their memorial services on the evening of Wednesday, November 20, for which an elaborate programme is now being arranged. The exercises will be very impressive, and the eulogies will be pronounced by some of our most noted Catholic orators.

Elect Charles F. Grainger Mayor and Defeat Our Enemies.

WILL LIFT DEBT.

Successful Plan Inaugurated by the Members of the Dominican Parish.

Leading Members of Congregation Organize a Debt Paying Association.

Hope to Clear Debt of $40,000 in the Next Six or Seven Years.

SPIRITUAL ADVANTAGES TO MEMBERS

There has recently been formed a Debt Association in St. Louis Bertrand's parish for the purpose of paying off the outstanding principal and interest on the imposing and beautiful Limerick church. Every member of the congregation is considered a member of the association, each of whom will enter heartily into the laudable undertaking. The parish has been divided into about thirty districts with a collector for each, whose duty it will be to call upon every family in his district the first week of every month and receive their monthly contributions toward paying off the debt now upon the church. The names of the contributors and the amount paid will be posted on a bulletin to be placed in the vestibule of the church.

The debt now upon St. Louis Bertrand's church amounts to about $40,000, and it is believed that by pushing this plan vigorously it will be wiped out entirely within the next six or seven years without burdening any one. The officers of the association, all well known and capable gentlemen and earnest workers, are as follows:

President—John P. Cassilly.
Vice President—Matt O'Doherty.
Secretary—Will P. McDonough.
Treasurer—J. F. Wager.
Rev. J. D. Fowler, ex-officio member of Executive Committee.

The collectors and members of Executive Committee are: Martin Callahan, Will Imorde, Will Perry, Dr. Max M. Eble, Daniel Doherty, Henry Wagner, Michael Moriarty, John Brennan, John Barry, William W. Best, John Baker, Lawrence Meaney, Frank McCormick, John E. Brown, John Crotty, John Kelly, Michael Hogan, E. J. McDonough, M. J. Walsh, John Hennessey, Joseph Morhorst, Edward Wagner, Harry Brady, Michael McDermott, Joseph Cole, J. J. Kavanaugh, Thomas Bohon, Joseph Schoeneman and Patrick Kilkenny.

The spiritual advantages to be derived by members of the Church Debt Association are:

First—They become benefactors of the Order of St. Dominic, for whom, living or dead, each priest of the order in the whole world say thirty-three masses yearly. Also four solemn requiem masses are sung each year for the departed benefactors. Besides each convent says two special masses for the members of this confraternity every week. The fruit of all these thousands and thousands of masses is applicable to the departed as well as to the living.

Second—Members also participate in all the good works of the order—masses, missions, divine office, fastings and austerities.

The foregoing plan has been adopted in many other cities and has been found to work most satisfactorily, quite a number of churches having paid off heavy debts in a surprisingly short space of time.

CATHOLIC KNIGHTS.

Important Business For Central Committee Friday Night.

The regular monthly meeting of the Central Committee of the Catholic Knights of America takes place Friday night at St. Mary's Hall, and as much important business must be transacted President Harry Veeneman hopes to see present a full representation from every branch in the three Falls cities.

For some time past the prominent members of the Central Committee have had under consideration the matter of the disposal of the funds now in the treasury, which are considerable. Some advocate their expenditure for organizing purposes, but the great majority seem to think these funds should be held for the purpose of aiding worthy members who are sick or out of work. Not a few favor a division for both purposes. The question is a live one and will bring out able discussion.

The Central Committee has thus far been very successful and is doing good work for all the local branches and the order at large. The visits made are very encouraging, and the results therefrom will be apparent at the next State convention. Many are eagerly awaiting the decision of the committee on the subject of another celebration in the near future. It is proposed to give an entertainment during the winter that will eclipse any heretofore attempted by the Catholic Knights.

CENTRAL LABOR UNION

Elects Delegates to State and American Federation of Labor.

The election of delegates to the State and American Federation of Labor brought out a large attendance at last Sunday's meeting of the Central Labor Union. Four unions sent new delegates and appeals from unions of other cities for aid and co-operation received favorable action.

Carl N. Bolander, of the Tailors' Union, was elected delegate to the American Federation of Labor convention, which meets at Scranton on December 5. John Fuchs, of the Brewers' Union, was chosen alternate. Both are able and conservative men, and the Central Labor Union is sure to be well represented.

Henry A. Carfield was the choice for delegate to the State Federation of Labor, which meets at Lexington on November 12. A better selection could not have been made. S. C. Moore, of the Retail Clerks, was elected to the Vice Presidency by acclamation.

First Vice President Conway, of the National organization of clerks, was present from Denver, and addressed the body, his remarks being well received. Drafts of bills to create a Bureau of Labor and declaring the first Monday in September a legal holiday were referred to the Legislative Committee.

An invitation was accepted to attend the hall of the Allied Printing Trades Council, after which the interesting session was brought to a close.

CLOSE OF BAZAR.

Was the Most Successful Ever Given in the City of Louisville.

Liederkrantz Hall Was Crowded Nightly by Friends of the Orphans.

Sum Realized Reaches Away Up Into the Thousands of Dollars.

The greatest bazar ever held in Louisville came to a close Thursday night at Liederkrantz Hall, and the clergyman and ladies and gentlemen of the city who have labored so assiduously for its success during the past three months may well feel proud over their work. The results are indeed gratifying to Catholics and charitable people generally. Since the opening on Monday, October 21, the hall has nightly presented an animated and brilliant scene, being always thronged with people who were desirous of contributing their share to the noble undertaking.

The spirited but always friendly rivalry that has existed between the twenty-one parishes in this endeavor to provide a suitable and comfortable home for the fatherless orphans is now over, and the enjoyable meetings and exciting incidents connected therewith will long remain pleasant memories. The sum realized has far exceeded the original expectations, though the exact amount is not yet known. President Edward J. O'Brien predicted that it would be the most successful bazar in the history of Louisville has been fully verified, both socially and financially.

While thousands visited the bazar during the ten days there were hundreds unable to attend, who it is presumed are willing to assist in providing a home for the orphans, and this they can yet do by calling upon any of the pastors of the various churches. In last week's report of the bazar the names of some of the zealous and successful workers were then and are still unknown to the writer.

Among those thus omitted was the name of Mrs. John Gray, of West Chestnut street, and her assistants, whose efforts were only equalled by the brave spirit that missed no opportunity of filling books with names upon the magnificent rug donated by Hubbuch Brothers. Her work was an important factor and contributed much toward swelling the receipts. The handsome chair donated by George Lawless to the ladies of the Sacred Heart church, for their booth was another money-maker, as was also the large and beautiful doll donated by the children of St. Cecilia's school, for which Misses Maggie Flynn, Agnes Demsey, Agnes Ford, Emma Fisher, Florentine Ford, Gussie Fisher, Minnie Reagan and Kate Carr secured the name of nearly every young man who came their way.

Many of the prizes exhibited attracted special attention, but none as much as the fine upright piano donated by Montenegro & Riehm through Rev. Father Trumbo's displayed at St. Patrick's booth, and the finely enameled bath tub, the gift of David Welsh, the well known Seventh-street plumber, upon which everybody was willing to take a chance.

The ladies from St. John's, St. Brigid's and St. Aloysius, who had charge of the dining-room, were kept busy at all times, and all who patronized them were well pleased. St. William's church was represented by two charming young ladies, who were remarkably successful in gathering in the dimes. They were almost irresistible, as were hundreds of others.

Special days were set apart for the children of the different schools. Two of the smallest parishes, Holy Cross and the Church of Our Lady in Portland, brought the largest numbers. Wednesday was the day set for the little orphans, and of their visit Miss Elvira Sydnor Miller writes in Thursday's Times:

"The little orphans from St. Vincent's Asylum at Preston Park had the time of their lives yesterday. They were brought in town to attend the bazar given for their benefit. All the good women connected with the fair vied with one another in making the day a red letter one for the small guests. There was an elegant and bountiful dinner served them and the good Sisters who had charge of the small folks, and they were allowed to enjoy themselves in the hall to their hearts' content. The Louisville Transfer Company generously carried them to and from the city, free as their contribution to the fun, and Mrs. Marcus Doerhoefer stood ready at her table with $100 in quarters. Each child got one of these quarters, which he or she was free to spend on anything for sale at the tables at that price. There were tempting balls of pop corn, rattles, small dolls, fancy ornaments, tops, all sorts of juvenile toys certain to catch the eye of the young purchaser. The children were taken home about 3 o'clock in the afternoon, perfectly delighted with their outing at the bazar, and certain it is that their visit gave as much pleasure to the good women at the hall as to the orphans themselves."

Sunday night there will be a meeting at St. Francis' Hall of the ladies and gentlemen who have been conducting the bazar, when plans will be arranged for the distribution of prizes not yet disposed of. There are a large number of these, and President O'Brien urges all who can do so to attend.

The drawing for prizes Thursday night was exciting, it being at times almost impossible to gain admission to the hall. The piano was awarded to a young lady of Boston, Mass., a niece of Rev. Father Thomas York. Miss M. A. Ryan, of Seventeenth and High streets, drew the Trumbo brass bed, and the leather chair went to C. Emmet Fitzpatrick, Twelfth and Delaware. Tony Norton won the handsome silver set donated by Mr. Malone; Father Raffo, a case of wine; Father Rock, gold bracelets, and Father Cunningham, a bride doll.

All connected with the bazar are elated over the results, as the sum realized will reach away up into the thousands of dollars. The names of the winners of prizes yet to be drawn for will be given space in these columns.

GOING TO TEXAS.

Because of Poor Health John M. O'Neill Leaves Louisville.

John M. O'Neill, who for many years past has been recognized as among the most successful of Louisville's real estate dealers, has disposed of his business here and will leave next week for San Antonio, Texas, where he expects to make his future home. For more than a year he has been failing in health, and it is believed the change in climate will soon result in his complete recovery.

Mr. O'Neill has resided in Louisville since boyhood. His reputation for honesty and integrity won for him countless numbers of patrons and friends, who will learn with regret of his departure for the Lone Star State. His family will follow him as soon as he can make arrangements for their reception.

JENNINGS—FINEGAN.

The marriage of Peter Jennings and Miss Margaret Finegan brought together a large number of friends of the contracting parties Wednesday afternoon. The ceremony was performed at St. Louis Bertrand's church by the Rev. Father Fowler. The bridesmaid was Miss Maggie Jennings, sister of the groom, and Tom Finegan, brother of the bride, was best man. A glowing touch of color was given to the handsome gray gowns of the bride and her maid by the big bouquets of American Beauties which they carried and the brilliant illumination of the church and altar. Following the ceremony the newly wedded pair were tendered a wedding dinner and reception at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Finegan, parent of the lovely bride. Friends and relatives numbering over one hundred called and showered the young couple with congratulations and many valuable presents. Rev. Father Fowler occupied a prominent seat at the wedding dinner and rendered a happy toast to the bride. The pair left Wednesday night for Memphis, where they will make their home for the present, accompanied by the best wishes of their very large circle of friends.

Gold paint is made by mixing metallic gold powder (purchased at any paint store) with a combination of one part varnish (pale copal preferable) and six parts of turpentine. A little quicklime added to the varnish will absorb any moisture.

Y. M. I.

Born in California and Has Grown to International Proportions.

Marvelous Progress of a Great Society For Catholic Young Men.

Grand and Supreme Councils and Their Officers and Jurisdiction.

FOR GOD AND FOR THEIR COUNTRY

Although the Young Men's Institute has been in existence but a few years its progress has been marvelous. Its remarkable development has drawn toward it more than the usual attention given to benevolent and fraternal organizations. The members of the Y. M. I., particularly those on the Pacific slope and throughout the Far West, are peculiarly interested in the order, since it is the only beneficial and fraternal society originating in the West which has become a great national, indeed almost international organization, wherein moral, social and intellectual improvement are encouraged and fostered with an enthusiasm and energy greater than any other society which ever came into being.

The history of fraternal societies in general is as old as Christianity itself. Under various forms and for various purposes fraternal societies have existed ever since the dawning of the Christian era. Fraternity, however, has divergent meanings. The good and the bad alike utilize the name "fraternity" for the carrying out of their specific works. The only true fraternity in the beginning was the Catholic church. She attached to the word "brother" a meaning it never had before; she fostered a spirit that antiquity never dreamed of. The fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man was instituted for all peoples and for all times. Her religious orders, her societies for charitable purposes, her societies for the spreading and propagation of the Christian faith, are after all the fruits of fraternity in a truly Christian form. Fraternity has for its natural sources the family and the nation. The members of a family are the highest ideals of a fraternity, the very personification of fraternity, and as an aggregation of individuals and of families made up a nation, so a nation as a unity, and particularly our own nation, is the most beautiful exemplification of national fraternity the world has ever seen.

The Young Men's Institute, although it has branches in nearly every State in the Union, and in nearly every place in British Columbia which can support a council, was founded in San Francisco on March 4, 1883, not quite nineteen years ago. The men who formed this society, and without which no article upon the organization or record of the society would be complete, consisted of John J. McDade, James F. Smith, George R. Maxwell, William H. Gagan, William T. Ryan and Edward I. Sheehan. Five of these are still active spirits in the organization, the other, William H. Gagan, having departed this life a little more than three years ago.

Judge James F. Smith, now one of the Justices of the Supreme Court in the Philippine Islands, became the first President of the order, then consisting of one branch. In the history of fraternal societies he was a unique character. He possessed an indomitable energy and perseverance, which has characterized him not only in his connection with the Institute, but in every walk of life where duty called him, be it civic, military or judicial. As President of what is now known as Pioneer Council No. 1, and subsequently as Grand President of the Pacific Jurisdiction, his name became a household word wherever a branch of the Y. M. I. existed.

As the order progressed and grew the leaders turned their thoughts to the establishment of new councils. San Jose Council No. 2 was organized March 30, 1885, and within five months the councils from Mission No. 3 to Vallejo No. 13 were organized and have at all times maintained their existence. The man who took the initiative in this work of organization was John J. McDade, the first Grand President, and afterward the first Supreme President of the Y. M. I. When the requisite number of councils had been organized the first Grand Council was called and held in San Francisco on July 4, 1885. Mr. McDade presided and was there elected Grand President, and was again re-elected by the Grand Councils held in San Jose and Sacramento.

The fourth Grand Council was held in Stockton, Cal., in September, 1888, previous to which time councils had been organized in Nevada, Oregon, Washington, Utah, British Columbia, Montana, Ohio and New York. M. W. Fleming was here elected Grand President. He was in turn succeeded by Hon. J. F. Sullivan, who served for two terms.

On July 4, 1890, the Atlantic Jurisdiction was organized in Cincinnati by Grand President Sullivan. F. H. Mackenpe was selected as the first Grand President of said jurisdiction, which continued up to May 19, 1896, when it was

ELECTION TUESDAY.

The election for city and county officers which occurs next Tuesday should interest every voter in this city and county. The Democratic nominees, whose names appear on another page, are too well known to need introduction at our hands. They are all men of superior ability, integrity and honor, having only at heart the best interests of the people of our city.

Charles F. Grainger will make an ideal Mayor, and under his administration there will be none of that bickering and uncertainty which hinders material progress. From his name down every candidate on the ticket is deserving of support and should receive at least 5,000 majority. The Democrats should all do their utmost between now and Tuesday to bring out a full vote. They should not scratch a single name on the ticket. The Republicans are disheartened and are bending all their energies to retain control of the City Court. But the success of 'Squire John McCann and the others happily seems a foregone conclusion.

It may not be out of place to here call attention to what would result if Stratton were elected Mayor. The statement has been made that big Bill DeForrester, who has been charged with running crap games and is known to be an enemy of a large portion of our population, will be Stratton's Chief of Police. This has not been denied by the Republicans. Phil Boro is another nice Republican geranium. They and a lot of the others who four years ago tried to gain control of the city government by creating religious prejudice and dark lantern methods are again in the saddle, and will stop at nothing that would land them in office.

This paper is not partisan, but feels that it is its duty to speak out at this time and warn its readers of the calamity that will befall them in the event of Republican success. We want Louisville saved from the blight of the bigots and the misfortunes that would follow if they were allowed to win.

Vote the straight Democratic ticket and Louisville will be saved from the gang whose only purpose is to fatten off the people, regardless of the consequences. With this warning we feel that Stratton and his cohorts, who have been secretly striving to bring religion into the campaign, but happily without success, will meet deserved and ignominious defeat.

Vote straight by stamping under the rooster.

CZOLGOSZ A REPROBATE.

Some of the newspapers are discussing the query of Czolgosz's religion—was he or was he not a Catholic? The issue was started several weeks ago by an anti-Catholic paper asserting that Czolgosz was a product of the Catholic parochial school; then a Catholic paper said he was a result of godless public schools. Both the disputants claimed to have fully investigated and published statements from former neighbors and acquaintances to prove the correctness of their respective contentions. Alas, for them and their investigations! Czolgosz was illiterate, could neither read nor write, and never attended any school.

Czolgosz's grandparents were probably Catholics, as his parents are said to have professed to be Catholics years ago when they lived in Michigan, but they were never known to attend church, in any way practice any religion, send their children to school or church. So while Czolgosz may have been baptized in the Catholic church, that is all; he was brought up without religion or education. The entire family were ignorant with no indications of religious belief or influence. They were anarchists in belief to a greater or lesser degree, and as the first "principle" of anarchy is freedom from the superstitious belief in God, and there can be no religion without a God-head, there would seem to be no ground for controversy as to Czolgosz's religion or church—unless it is contended, which it is not, that the Catholic or any other church or school teaches anarchy. Czolgosz was simply a reprobate, upon whom religion and education would likely have had no beneficial effect, whether it had been Catholic or non-Catholic, for he was devoid of all sense of sympathy and fellow-feeling, which even the brutes possess.

GET OUT OF OUR WAY.

The American Tobacco Company has entered upon a war for the trade of Great Britain, to the chagrin of the British tobacco dealers. President Duke has been there to personally supervise the move and coolly told the Britishers his company were after their trade and would start with $5,000,000 and spend more if necessary. This was regarded as a bluff. But President Duke seems to have attended to business as well as talk. American agencies were established, drummers suddenly appeared throughout Great Britain, shipments of American tobacco for chewing and smoking of superior quality arrived and is now being sold in the shops cheaper than inferior English grades, which are being ignored. Then it is learned that the American company is preparing to erect an immense warehouse at an Irish port, probably Cork, as headquarters, from which they can promptly fill orders for all grades of tobacco. The Britishers were stunned, then they met, organized and determined to drive the Yankee out of the market. Their first move is to withdraw from agents and traders all bonuses, so they can reduce the price to compete. So Great Britain is likely to enjoy a cut-rate tobacco war, and before it is over they will have an illustration of how the American conducts a cut-rate war, sell's below cost, busts his competitors, gets all the trade and winds up rich. In the meantime the people of the British isles will chew and smoke tobacco the like of which they never dreamed of. It takes the Yankee to do such things. The British tobacco men may as well prepare to get out of the business, for they will soon realize that they know nothing about tobacco or tricks of trade alongside of the American.

PERSONALTY ASSESSMENT.

City Assessor Murphy some days ago completed the distribution of blank schedules among all city taxpayers for returns of personal property for the year 1902. Under the law these schedules should have been returned before today. Those who have neglected this matter must now submit to arbitrary assessment.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS.

Sunday, November 24, has been selected as the date for the initiation of a great number of new members into Louisville Council of the Knights of Columbus and the conferring of degrees. Large numbers of distinguished members of the order from the principal cities of the Union are expected to be present to take part in the exercises. Louisville Knights are making extensive arrangements for the entertainment of their visiting brethren upon this auspicious occasion.

Vote early Tuesday.

AU REVOIR TO OCTOBER.

October's beautiful last golden day
Has come—the hours are fleeting fast,
The precious moments swiftly glide away,
And soon will be a memory of the past.

Ah! yes, the month of the Rosary blest
Will soon be gone—its azure sky
Has faded—the sun sinks in the west—
And all is dark with gloom—also! good-bye.

Au revoir, October! but not good-bye,
My heart your beauty never can forget;
For "love will live—love can not die!"—
Dear month of the Rosary, I shall regret.

Misses Elsie Carpenter and Fannie and Anna Robertson, three attractive visitors from Elizabethtown, were here with friends during the past week.

Miss Bettie Ray, a pretty and well known society girl, has been receiving marked social attention at Elizabethtown, where she visited Mrs. J. S. Grimes.

Mrs. F. C. Simpson, 306 West St. Catherine street, arrived home this week from Bardstown, where she had a delightful visit with her sister, Mrs. J. D. Wickliffe.

Miss Mary Kelly, who was able to be removed to her home in Portland last week, after a serious illness at the infirmary, has been improving steadily and expects to be out again next week.

The Post of last Saturday contained really fine pictures of Mrs. Dr. Louis Broring and Mrs. Joseph Denunzio, two of the most earnest and charming lady workers at the recent orphans' bazar.

The residents of Crescent Hill are rejoiced over the recovery of Mrs. Thomas Gilmore and Miss Emma Sittel, whose illness was a source of much anxiety among their numerous friends and admirers.

West End and other readers of the Kentucky Irish American are rejoiced over the recovery of Andrew Butler, the well known traveling salesman, who has been quite ill at his home on Portland avenue.

Miss Ashby was an attractive bride Wednesday. Her marriage to Edward Quick was celebrated at the Holy Name rectory, Rev. Father O'Connor performing the ceremony. The bride was handsomely attired and carried a large bouquet of roses. The contracting parties are well known and received the congratulations of a host of friends.

Mrs. James Sweeney, wife of the well known Jeffersonville boat builder and foundryman, was removed to the Mercy Hospital last Monday. She was in a critical condition as the result of an illness of typhoid fever. Her many friends will be relieved of great anxiety by the news that her condition has greatly improved. Mrs. Sweeney is one of the most popular women in Jeffersonville.

The marriage of Miss Louise Stey, of 1621 Baxter avenue, and S. W. Clark, of Fuducab, brought together a large number of their friends Wednesday morning. The ceremony was performed at St. Brigid's church, Rev. Father Richard Clark, newly ordained and brother of the groom, pronouncing the words that united the happy pair. The bride was one of the most popular young ladies in the East End, and her departure from this city will be sincerely regretted, especially in musical circles. Mr. Clark is a successful young business man of Paducah and a cousin of Dr. F. S. Clark, of this city. After the wedding the newly wedded couple left for Nelson county, where they will spend their honeymoon with the groom's parents.

SHORT AND BRIEF.

Some people will never be cured of smoking until they allow their wives to buy "their" cigars.

Call a man a "lucky dog" and he'll flattered, call him a puppy and he lands on your jaw. Call a woman a "chick" and you've won her; call her a "hen"—and secure your ticket for a better land.

Senator Mason, of Illinois, in a speech last Friday at a banquet at Warren, Ohio, named Hill and Waterson as the next standard-bearers of the Democratic party. That would indeed be a combination hard to keep in harmony.

The case of the United States against City Buyer Harry Weaver, charged with intimidating colored voters by bribery in the Turner-Evans Congressional election of 1898, was called in Judge Evans' court Monday and set for November 7.

James McGarry, the original of F. Peter Dunne's "Dooley," died at Chicago on Tuesday at an advanced age. McGarry was formerly a saloonkeeper, well known locally for his wit and the whimsical philosophy he brought to bear on passing events.

High School rowdies created a great disturbance at Macauley's Theater last Saturday night. The leader was very properly placed under arrest. They now threaten to transfer their patronage to the gallery of the Avenue, which means trouble for that house also.

F. J. Kierce, the California lawyer, now Supreme President of the Young Men's Institute, is among the number of applicants for charter membership in the Knights of Columbus Council now being organized in San Francisco, as are also Rev. Fathers McQuade, Grant and O'Connell.

Leon Czolgosz, the assassin of President McKinley, paid the penalty for his awful crime Tuesday morning. He was electrocuted at the State Prison at Auburn, N. Y., and died without any expression of remorse for his horrible deed. The remains were buried in the prison cemetery, and nothing belonging to him was allowed to be taken away.

Talking of Noah's ark reminds me of the Chicago University professor who had a plain Irish girl working for him as a domestic. One day he came to her and said: "Kate, I wonder why it must have been that Noah had every nationality on the face of God's earth in the ark with him except the Irish. Why is it? I have so often wondered at it." Kate replied: "Shure, there's nothing new about that. The Irish had an ark of their own."

In Washington Catholic circles it is believed that the next consistory of the Catholic church at Rome will be held in February, when Pope Leo XIII. attains the twenty-fifth year of his pontificate. While there have been no definite advices to this effect, it is thought that this assembly will open the jubilee to signalize the closing of the quarter century of Pope Leo's regime, and that he will take advantage of it to deliver an allocution, taking a strong position on the question of assassination among other things.

The diocese of St. Augustine, Fla., is one of the smallest in point of numbers in the United States, the Catholic population numbering only 7,000, although the parish of St. Augustine is the oldest in the land. The first colonists came from Spain in 1565, more than half a century before the Pilgrims landed at Plymouth. The parish was fully organized at that period, and a full set of its records of baptisms and marriages from the year 1594 is in a perfect state of preservation. These records are now in the city of Havana, whither they were carried in 1793, at the first change which made Florida pass under English rule.

RECENT DEATHS.

Catherine Tierney, aged sixty-two years, died at an early hour Thursday morning at her home, 1515 Rowan street, where she had resided for many years. Her funeral took place yesterday morning, the interment being at St. John's cemetery.

Michael Keegan, the sixteen-year-old son of John Keegan, died of consumption at the family residence, 732 West Kentucky street, last Wednesday evening. The funeral took place from St. Louis Bertrand's church Friday morning at 9 o'clock. The deceased was a steady, industrious young man and will be a great loss to his family. "May his soul rest in peace."

Mrs. Maria Cuneo, mother of J. Pink Cuneo, passed peacefully away Thursday, after an illness of several months. She was a native of Italy, but had lived here for forty-two years. Mrs. Cuneo leaves beside her son two daughters, Misses Kate and Mary Cuneo, to mourn her loss. She was prominent in Italian society circles and only her advanced age prevented her from being active among them. Her funeral takes place this morning from the Cathedral.

NEW VATICAN ROOMS.

The Vatican, the largest palace in the world, will soon receive another addition to its bulk, which will bring up the number of its rooms to 12,000. The Pope has decided to erect three new buildings. One containing 800 rooms will be used to house the pilgrims coming to Rome, while the other two, which will be much smaller, will be added to the Vatican museum. In the last mentioned buildings will be placed all the artistic offerings that Leo XIII. has received during his pontificate.

Separate coats are now almost as much in demand as separate waists, and every large shop has a supply of them, while the tailors have many smart models for their customers' consideration.

Y. M. I.

divided into the new jurisdictions created therein by the first Supreme Council.

James F. Smith was elected Grand President of the Pacific jurisdiction in 1891, and his administration was one of the most memorable in the order, as he made a tour during which he visited every council therein. C. P. Rendon was next elected Grand President at Fresno in 1892, and was succeeded by F. J. Murasky at the Grand Council held at Marysville in 1893. The latter made effort to convene a Supreme Council of the order during his term of office but without success.

The tenth Grand Council, held in San Francisco, in 1894 elevated F. J. Kierce, now Supreme President, to the Presidency of the Pacific jurisdiction. Like his predecessor, Judge Smith, he visited all the councils allotted to the Pacific jurisdiction. It was during his term of office that a plan for the organization of the Supreme Council satisfactory to the Atlantic and Pacific jurisdictions was formulated. The delegates elected to the first Supreme Council from the Pacific jurisdiction were Messrs. J. J. McDade, J. F. Sullivan, J. F. Smith, F. J. Murasky, F. J. Kierce, James Gallagher and Frank McGlynn.

John Lynch was elected Grand President of the Pacific jurisdiction at the eleventh Grand Council held at Vallejo in 1895. It was during his term of office that the Supreme Council was held, convening at Denver in February, 1896. The action of the Supreme Council in separating the Atlantic and Pacific into the Grand Council jurisdictions now existing had the effect of shortening his term to eight months. The eleventh Grand Council at Vallejo was the last general gathering of delegates representing the councils in the now Northwest and Pacific Grand Council jurisdictions.

In the Atlantic jurisdictions the Grand Presidents elected at the five Grand Councils held were F. E. Mackentepe, two terms; T. A. Bruhl, J. J. Maher and Judge H. W. Rives, of Kentucky. The delegates from the Atlantic jurisdiction to the first Supreme Council were H. W. Rives, J. L. Gaynor, Charles B. Adams, F. D. Lyon, M. T. Corcoran, C. A. Korbly, W. E. Kenney, W. D. Sexton, Rev. D. P. O'Brien, P. B. Costello and James A. Mulligan. The council convened at Denver on February 15, 1896. J. J. McDade was elected Supreme President. The next Supreme Council met at St. Louis in October, 1898, when F. J. Kierce was chosen Supreme President. He was again re-elected at Denver in October, 1900, and still ably fills that important position. The history of the Y. M. I. since the adjournment of the first Supreme Council centers around the work of that body in controlling and directing the different jurisdictions and detached councils and in aiding and assisting in the carrying on of their work.

The Young Men's Institute is a Catholic society. It appeals for its membership to those who are of the Catholic faith, and to assist mother church in elevating man through unity and fraternity to the heights of charity, good will and benevolence, is its mission and has ever been its purpose. It requires neither convincing argument nor persuasive eloquence to show that this society appeals to right thinking men whatever be their creed. At the very threshold of membership it is expected that an applicant shall live up to the cardinal principles upon which this order is founded. The constitution provides that the objects of the Y. M. I. are "mutual aid and benevolence, the moral, social and intellectual improvement of its members, and the proper development of sentiments of devotion to the Catholic church and loyalty to our country," in accordance with its motto, "Pro Deo, Pro Patria."

More than any other fraternal society the Y. M. I. has modeled its laws and plan of operation after that masterpiece of the world's statesmanship, "the pride of every model and the perfection of every master," the constitution of the United States. In our country we have a General Government and a Federal constitution which guide and direct the general affairs of the several States, but without interference with their internal workings. In the Y. M. I. we have a Supreme Council constitution in which is vested supreme authority over the several Grand Council jurisdictions, having a uniformity of general laws, but without interfering with the local conditions peculiar to the separate jurisdictions. Beneath the various State governments exist the various county governments. We have the subordinate councils standing in the same general relations to the different Grand Council jurisdictions that the several counties stand to their respective States. We have under the American form of government the different Territories not yet strong enough to sustain a State government, and under the direct supervision and control of the General Government, and in the Institute, to complete the parallel, we have detached councils under the direct supervision and control of the Supreme Council and its officers, because they are not as yet able to sustain a Grand Council jurisdiction.

But it may be asked: Why the necessity of a Catholic fraternity like the Y. M. I.? Are there not other fraternities which you may join? Admitting that there are such bodies, why debar the Catholic young men from having in addition a society which, while it is most thoroughly American, shall bring under its benign influence not only the Catholic who may join existing fraternities, but also the Catholic laymen who would never enter their portals. Another adds: But are there not other such societies of a Catholic nature—why the need of the Y. M. I.? It is true there are other Catholic societies, but not one of them is founded upon the plan of ours—not one is performing the work that ours is accomplishing. Some of the existing Catholic societies confine their membership to a particular nationality, others are mere fraternal insurance societies, and still others are merely social or sick benefit ones. All of these are doing in their particular sphere good work, but it remained for the founders of the Young Men's Institute to establish a society which knows none of the narrow limits of color or nationality—a society which has a constitution, like the country in which it was born, broad enough, grand enough and large enough to bring under its folds every person worthy of membership, whether he be the petted scion of wealth or the man who in the busy workshop or beneath the bronzing midday sun earns his living by honest manual toil. This society, like the church itself, is Catholic, it is universal, it desires every good man to enter its ranks and differentiates not between the classes and the masses. The Y. M. I. is Catholic and it is American.

The progress which this society has made has been rapid. Its growth has been marvelous mainly because it met a want. How shall we best meet the pressing needs of our people is the problem to be solved. If you ask a particular individual he will narrow them by the compass of his own understanding and of his immediate circle. Hence the necessity of united and conjoint action and the interchange of opinion at frequent intervals. Mutual aid and benevolence are among the objects of the Y. M. I. Sick or death benefits alone are not the incentives or inducements which bring members to our ranks. These benefits are desirable and needful when unforeseen circumstances require that they be applied for in the hour of sickness, trial or tribulation, and when aid and benevolence are required. The Y. M. I. has never been remiss in dispensing charity from her treasury, and that charity and benevolence constant, compassionate, efficacious and universal.

Another portion of the mission of the Young Men's Institute is the moral, social and intellectual improvement of our young men and of our membership. This is probably the base of the great work which it is accomplishing. In this land every man has a right to advance and improve. He may rise by his own merits, irrespective of the position or situation in life from whence he came. He has a right to aspire to any position in the gift of the people, from the most lowly to the highest. The brightest names in our history are the names of men who have sprung from an obscure origin. Each man, after all, must act in and of himself in the advancement of everything which pertains to national progress. Out of the life of the individual flows the stream of the world.

But the Young Men's Institute, after all, while a society of Catholics, is not a sodality. It is a society of laymen for the accomplishment through its plan of operation of general good in a moral, in a social and in an intellectual way. The intellectual advancement of the members is of paramount importance. The spreading and dissemination of Catholic truth is a most necessary thing. The order expects to accomplish this in various ways. By means of suitable libraries and reading rooms, by the printed word and upon the lecture platform the Y. M. I. presents to the people of this continent the truths of Catholic history and philosophy and the truths concerning the doctrines and dogmas of the Catholic church, the great part she has played in the world's history and her influence upon civilization. It is the mission of the Institute, in accordance with its constitution, to properly develop sentiments of devotion to the Catholic church and loyalty to our country in accordance with its motto, "Pro Deo, Pro Patria."

The first duty of the Catholic as a citizen is to stand for all that is implied in the term—for liberty, order, education and opportunities. The Catholic should be in the very forefront of the march of progress. The Institute desires to bring under its influence men anxious for self-improvement—assertive, energetic, enterprising men, willing to assist in the elevation of their fellows and aid and encourage them in various ways.

Mere ethical culture is not the basis of true moral improvement. With the birth of the Y. M. I. a movement was begun which is certainly destined to accomplish great things, not only for the culture but for the advancement of Catholics in this country. The organizers of this society were earnest in their desire to benefit their fellow-Catholics and their fellow-citizens; they were eager to see effective work done, and they took early opportunity to urge upon young men the necessity of uniting into one grand body for their moral, social and intellectual improvement and advancement. The principle which inspired the existence of the Institute is as old as reason itself, as unchanging as truth and as lasting as the church. The work left undone by other societies the Y. M. I. has taken up, and it is the noble and responsible mission of this order to carry this work to a successful conclusion. Man's religious nature is the sequence of his rational nature. The loftiest intellects in all ages have had the deepest religious convictions. Different periods have different aspirations. American patriotism is needed—patriotism active and intense—patriotism speaking with noble pride, with throbbing heart, "Civis Americanus." I am an American citizen. Let us lend our efforts to crown the miracles of our past with the spectacle of a republic compact, united, indissoluble in the bonds of love, serene and resplendent at summit of human achievement and earthly glory.

VOTE THE STRAIGHT DEMOCRATIC CITY AND COUNTY TICKET.

The Democrats of Louisville and Jefferson County have brought to a close what promises to be the most successful campaign in the history of the party in this, the metropolis of Kentucky. The election, which is to take place Tuesday next, will have a far-reaching effect on the politics as well as the business of the city and State. That the ticket will be elected is conceded by even leading Republicans, the only question now being as to majorities. This is predicated, however, on the supposition that the full registered vote will be brought out on November 5. All factions in the party are united. This has not been the case for many years before. With a united party, and the opposition badly divided, it is apparent to everyone that the Democratic ticket ought to be elected by at least 5,000 majority for the lowest man on the ticket. Not only will Mr. Grainger and his associates get the full Democratic vote, but they have every reason to expect 95 per cent. of the union labor vote, and several thousand Republicans who are dissatisfied with the management of the Republican party by the clique in the Custom House.

The campaign just closed has been conducted on broad and dignified lines. There has been no abuse heaped on the Republican party or its candidates. Except for the criticism indulged in by Republicans themselves of Mr. Sapp's machine methods there has been nothing said against the individual candidates picked out by Sapp, while much could be said as to the incompetence of many of them to fill the places to which they aspire.

Now at the close of the campaign it is not out of place to say a word as to the personnel of the Democratic ticket headed by Charles F. Grainger. Everybody concedes that Mr. Grainger will make a model Mayor. He is young, full of energy, has good business capacity and long experience in municipal politics. The politicians can not fool him. He has a head of his own and a way of his own. He is a native of Louisville, knows the people and loves his city. He has pledged himself to devote his entire time to developing the business interests, and being a manufacturer himself, will try to encourage new industries. It is a high tribute to Mr. Grainger and the company over which he presides that a strike has never taken place in the big foundry and machine shop now so successfully in operation under his management. It is no wonder that labor men and leading Republicans are enthusiastic for the Democratic nominee.

We herewith present the pictures of gentlemen whom we ask our readers to vote for in the order in which their names appear on the ballot.

James B. Brown, nominee for the important office of Tax Receiver, is also a native of Louisville. He has for four years filled the important position of assistant under James B. Camp, has handled millions of dollars and accounted for every cent. At the same time he has been courteous with the public.

Charles Neumeyer, the efficient incumbent in the Auditor's office, is a leading German citizen, and no man has ever filled that office more acceptably. He will get almost the solid German vote.

Of James B. Camp it is hardly necessary to speak. He is the present efficient Tax Receiver, and now aspires to be City Treasurer. Everybody knows "Jim" Camp and likes him, and his majority ought to be very large.

John McCann, for Judge of the Police Court, has served the people faithfully as Magistrate and as State Senator. He is well qualified by long experience on the bench to preside over the Police Court. John McCann will get many Republican votes, as well as the support of every Democrat who has the success of his party at heart. He will make an able and fearless Judge.

No more competent man has ever held the office of Clerk of the Police Court than Alf V. Oldham. The Republican judges who have examined his work during the past four years have given him high testimonials. Mr. Oldham has been faithful in the discharge of his duties, and his record is without a flaw.

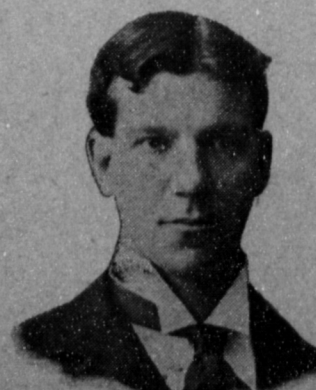

William Bosler ought to get a very large majority for Balliff of the Police Court. He had no opposition in the primary, which is an indication of his strength and popularity.

Robert J. Hagan, for Prosecuting Attorney of the Police Court, is a young lawyer of ability and energy. He will be a credit to the position and will discharge his duties faithfully.

No man has ever filled the office of County Judge more acceptably than James P. Gregory, and his majority will be very large, as it should be. He is one of the most dignified and capable judges on the bench of Kentucky, whether in the Circuit or Appellate Courts.

Dr. Harris Kelly, for Coroner, is a distinguished young physician, and when he assumes the duties of Coroner will bring to the office the requisite qualifications. He is one of the most popular young gentlemen in the practice.

Samuel B. Kirby, for County Attorney, is one of the most popular lawyers in the Louisville bar, as well as one of the most learned. He is besides a sterling Democrat, always with the party in victory or defeat.

John R. Pfanz, for Jailor, is now serving his first term in that office. He has as many friends as any man in Jefferson county, and his majority ought to be large, on account of his splendid record. He is always doing some kindly act for some one.

E. T. Schmitt, for Sheriff, has been a deputy in that office for many years. Everybody knows and likes "Dick" Schmitt, and it is a foregone conclusion that he will be the next Sheriff by the largest majority ever given a candidate.

William J. Semonin could probably be elected County Assessor as long as he lives, so good a record has he made in that office, but the law does not permit him to succeed himself. He is an aspirant for the important office of County Clerk, and when he takes charge of that office it is safe to predict he will fill it as acceptably as he has filled the office of Assessor. He will be a worthy successor of Mr. Johnson.

W. L. Weller, Jr., for Senator in the Thirty-eighth District, is one of the most popular Democrats in the city, and his majority ought to be large.

Democrats ought to pay particular attention to the Legislative races and see that all the nominees are elected. H. S. McNutt, who is making the race for Senator in the Thirty-sixth District, is a well known business man of Louisville. He ought to get the full Democratic vote, as he is a Democrat who has never deserted his party.

Robert Young, for County Surveyor, is one of the most capable men in his profession, and that he will be re-elected is a foregone conclusion.

Mrs. Rosa Stonestreet, for County Superintendent of Schools, is the incumbent in that office. She is a widow and has a family dependent upon her. She has made a fine record and her majority ought to be large.

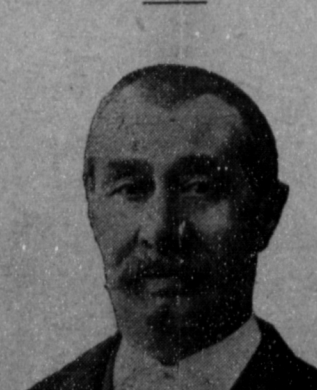

James P. Edwards, in the Sixth and Seventh wards.

H. P. McDonald in the Eighth and Ninth wards.

Michael Burke, in the Tenth ward.

John M. Letterie has served in the district embracing the First ward for many years, and his record is a splendid one.

John Young is President of the Barbers' Union, and is making a winning race in the Second and Third wards.

Lawrence Reichert, in the Fourth and Fifth wards.

James P. Edwards, in the Sixth and Seventh wards.

H. P. McDonald in the Eighth and Ninth wards.

Michael Burke, in the Tenth ward.

And Thomas Drewry, in the Eleventh and Twelfth wards, have been making active canvasses and ought to win by big majorities.

No better ticket was ever presented to the people of Louisville than the twelve men named for Aldermen. Here they are:

Abner Harris, Henry S. Cohn, Nathan M. Uri, G. Wallace Embry, Harry Weissinger, T. J. O'Bryan, W. J. O'Hearn, Humphrey Knecht, R. B. Gilbert, James B. Smith, James J. Fitzgerald, Paul C. Barth.

These men would be a credit to a Legislative body in any city in the world. They are leaders in business, at the bar and in other professions, and it is conceded that no better men could have been picked out. The same is true of the nominees for the Council as follows: First Ward—John Baron and Augustus J. Bisot.

Second Ward—Barnhard Buckle and William P. Schwartz.
Third Ward—A. J. Domeck and T. J. Yeager.
Fourth Ward—Henry Seiler and J. Newton Shepard.
Fifth Ward—C. C. Early and Madison B. Beville.
Sixth Ward—Samuel S. Blitz and Charles D. Greer.
Seventh Ward—Upton W. Muir and Frank S. Cook.
Eighth Ward—Alvah L. Terry and Arthur Board.
Ninth Ward—Albert S. Smith and Lee Cohn.
Tenth Ward—Fred J. Hummel and W. E. Palmore.
Eleventh Ward—Herman Christen and Julius E. Bierach.
Twelfth Ward—J. W. Drake and Augustus Miller.

With men of this high character in the Legislative department of the city, all ready to carry out the policy of the Mayor and united for the common good, the city will have a government such as it never had before. From the beginning everybody has conceded that the municipal legislative ticket was the best ever named.

For Park Commissioners the old reliable three, Gen. John B. Castleman, Louis Seelbach and Gottlieb Layer, have been named for re-election, and their fine records ought to insure them large majorities.

For School Trustees the vote will be viva voce, and there seems to be no doubt about the election of the following nominees:

First Ward—S. Snodgrass.
Second and Third Wards—Chas. A. Lang.
Fourth and Fifth Wards—Samuel Morningstar.

Sixth and Seventh Wards—Gavin H. Cochran.
Eighth and Ninth Wards—Dr. J. W. Galvin.
Tenth Ward—Dr. R. E. Galvin.
Eleventh and Twelfth Wards—Jos. B. Atkinson.

It is important that honest and capable men be elected Magistrates, as the law now gives these officers more jurisdiction than formerly, and they sit in the Fiscal Court. No mistake will be made in voting for the following nominees in the several districts:

First District—G. C. Shadburn.
Second District—David McKinley.
Third District—Chas. J. Fegenbush.
Fourth District—J. P. Shively.
Fifth District—John N. Velten.
Sixth District—Ed. Meglery.
Seventh District—Joe Keyer.
Eighth District—John M. Adams.
Almost as important are the Constables, and the following excellent men have been named in the several districts for this office:

First District—Hugo Schultz.
Second District—Jordan Floore.
Third District—Conrad Kaiser.
Fourth District—Chas. H. Hilbert.
Fifth District—Frank Hoffman.
Sixth District—Joseph Short.
Seventh District—Edward O'Connor.
Eighth District—John Kavanaugh.
It is the duty of every citizen to vote.

The people will have an opportunity of voting for a splendid set of men next Tuesday by stamping under the Democratic device—the rooster. Between now and Tuesday every friend of Mr. Grainger and his associates should make it a point to urge his neighbors to turn out on Tuesday and vote.

THEATRICALS.

Next week the Avenue will present one of the season's strongest attractions. "The Night Before Christmas" is a fine character play, a pastoral drama, that embodies all the beauties of the best of this class of plays. The scenes of the play are taken from a quaint Ohio town, and are so homelike, so natural and beautiful that this atmosphere seems to prevail even in the theater. Col. Shaw should have another big week's business with this attraction.

"Clark's New Royals," a thoroughly up-to-date aggregation of unusual excellence, will be the offering for next week at the Buckingham Theater. The show is made up of American and European talent with a distinct novelty in the English specialty of Bedini and Arthur, whom Manager Clark imported from England the past summer. From everywhere we hear the most flattering reports of this specialty, and the fact that the act was retained on the Keith Circuit for an engagement of eight weeks proves conclusively that it is one far above the average.

For the coming week at the Temple Manager Meffert announces William Gillette's famous comedy, "The Private Secretary," which for season after season has renewed its success. This will be the first production here of this amusing play at popular prices. It will be given with the same stage setting and scenery as was seen in New York. The vaudeville for the week includes turns by Werden and Sheppard, Cole and De-Losse and others. Werden and Sheppard will give their famous song illustrating specialty, which was the biggest vaudeville hit of last season. This year an entirely new repertoire of songs will be used. This attraction should draw crowded houses at every performance. Col. Meffert spares neither pains nor expense in giving our amusement going people the best that can be found on the American stage, for which he should be rewarded by large patronage. A nicer or safer family theater can not be found anywhere, and it is gratifying that the recent scare had no bad effect.

Record of the Most Important of the Recent Events Culled From Exchanges.

At the inquest on the remains of James Byrne, at Warrenpoint, who was run over by a goods train at Newry, the jury found that the occurrence was accidental.

R. G. Warren, solicitor to the Attorney General, has been appointed Sessional Crown Solicitor for the county of Wicklow, as successor to the late George Mill Major.

A Newry telegram reports that Edward Black, of Scarva, County Down, died on Sunday night at the age of one hundred years and three months. To the last he retained his faculties, and possessing a retentive memory, was able to rehearse stirring events of Irish history for the past eighty years.

A young man named Scully was fatally injured by a bull which he was leading from an outhouse in a farmyard at Gardemenny Castle, County Kilkenny. On emerging from the house the bull furiously attacked Scully, piercing him through the chest with one of its horns. Two men went to Scully's assistance, but he only lived a few hours.

At a special court at the Ennis courthouse on Tuesday afternoon a young man of respectable appearance named Pat Cusack, employed as a rural postman in the Crusheen sub-district, was brought up in custody on a charge of having abstracted an important letter while in transit through the post. The accused was sent out for trial to the assizes, bail being refused.

In the People's Park, Waterford, several persons heard screams of a woman in distress proceeding from the Pill, a sheet of water near the sewerage works. One of them, Richard Kavanagh, a compositor, saw a woman in the water. He got a plank and attempted to reach her, but failed, and she sank, exclaiming, "I am drowning, I am drowning; God help me." The woman's name has not yet been ascertained.

Anthony Reeves, of Reevesmount, Athy, has been appointed to the important position of agricultural expert and itinerant instructor for the county of Cavan. The salary attached to the office is $1,750. Reeves is a favorite among all who know him. His efforts for the social advancement of the young men of Athy have been most successful. For many years he acted as Secretary of the Catholic Young Men's Society of that town.

A serious outbreak of typhus fever has taken place in Wexford, and from three or four houses alone ten or twelve people have been sent to the fever hospital. The corporation have held special meetings to consider the situation, and have decided to close up altogether a lane leading from the main street to another of the principal streets in the town. It was also decided that a number of suspected cases should be placed under observation.

On Wednesday evening a prisoner named McKeeple, hailing from Ballymena, who was awaiting his trial at the next quarter sessions, escaped from Belfast jail and running up an alley concealed himself in the grounds of St. Malachy's College. The alarm was raised about half an hour later, but although a number of police and warders went in search no arrest has been made. Two houses were subsequently robbed by the escaped prisoner.

At the Limerick Rural District Council County Surveyor Horan reported that he was obliged to stop quarterly payments to most of the road contractors, as they had not fulfilled their contracts, and in some instances had not performed any work on the roads, some of which were in a disgraceful condition. In one case a contractor had put on stones for metalizing the road and taken them off again. The council approved of the Surveyor's action in stopping payments.

At a meeting of Waterford citizens held in the Town Hall to consider Andrew Carnegie's offer of $25,000 toward a free library the Mayor presided. On the proposition of the Bishop of Cashel the offer was accepted. The Library Committee was empowered to appoint a committee and carry out the offer. The Mayor, J. Phelan, and Alderman Goff were appointed treasurers. It was resolved: "That this meeting tenders its best thanks to Mr. Carnegie for his generous offer."

His Honor County Court Judge Shaw, addressing the Kilkenny grand jury, said he was glad to be able to tell them that their work on the present occasion was very light. There was only one bill to go before them, a bill against a woman for endangering the life of her child. He congratulated them on the peaceful state of the district and the fact that there was only one case, after the long interval which had elapsed since last sessions, showed that the people were behaving themselves very well.

At a special court of petty sessions in Dunganboro before Messrs. Gibson and Townshend two young men named James O'Connor and James McAlinden, from Portadown, were charged with carrying a revolver without a license and with offences under the peace preservation act. From the police evidence it appeared that the defendants were with a contingent in brakes and cars returning from Coalisland. At Milltown they fired five shots in the direction of persons standing on the street. The defendants were sentenced to one month's imprisonment each.

On Saturday night at a late hour a number of persons were discovered engaged in wrecking the goods on the stalls erected at the Catholic church at Johnston, near Derry, where the Vincentian Fathers were holding a mission. The owners when making an inspection came on the depredators, who, however, made good their escape in the dark. A number of statues and religious emblems have been destroyed. Some time ago, also on a Saturday night, a handsome cross was wrenched from the church roof

At the annual licensing sessions at Athlone on Monday for the division of Moate, before Judge Ayle Curran, James Gilmore, a retired Sergeant of Police, applied for a publican's license for premises in Athlone. The facts having been stated, His Honor said: "A policeman makes the worst publican you can put into a house—I don't mean anything personal to Mr. Gilmore—as they are up to all the dodges." The police objected on the ground that there were already eighty-three public houses in the town, which they considered a sufficient number. Only one Magistrate voted in favor of the license, which was refused.

HIBERNIANS.

What They Have Been Doing the Past Week—General News Notes.

Not until the week after next will there be a meeting of Divisions 1, 2 and 4.

Philadelphia divisions report good attendance at meetings and a steady growth in membership.

Three young ladies sold 2,444 tickets for the recent ball given by the Hibernian Rifles of Worcester, Mass.

Division 2 of Buffalo has donated its hall to the Irish Language Society for a card party and entertainment Monday night.

Division 3 meets Monday night at Nelligan's Hall, Nineteenth and Portland avenue. President Cavanaugh will preside.

The newly elected county officers having been installed, a big boom is looked for in the affairs of the order in Buffalo and vicinity.

The Boston Hibernian says of the 247 members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives for 1902 elected this fall 104 are members of the order.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of Somersworth, N. H., entertained their old and young friends with a successful Halloween party and dance Thursday night.

State President Ryan, of Massachusetts, will deliver the lecture under the auspices of the United Irish Societies of New York City tomorrow evening.

Division 1 of Jeffersonville meets Tuesday night. They are working hard for their annual ball. Visitors to this division are sure of a cordial reception.

Don't forget the "blow-out" to be given by Division 4 at the next meeting, November 13. Grogan, Reilly and Langan have the affair in charge and promise a surprise.

Father Sweeney, of the Church of the Sacred Heart, delivered the principal address at the recent celebration of the tenth anniversary of Division 3 at Bridgeport, Conn.

The division in Milltown expected to open a reading room and library in connection with their hall about the first of November. The rooms will be open every evening except Sunday.

The Ancient Order of Hibernians gave a very delightful "smoker" in their hall last week in Dayton, Ohio, which inaugurated a series of social affairs to be given this winter. The attendance was large and the impromptu program very much enjoyed.

Great preparations are being made by Philadelphia for the annual ball of the order. The contest for Chairman resulted in the election of Edward J. Ryan, who received 125 votes, while his opponent, Attorney Brennan, got 41. Both had their champions and lively interest was manifested in the proceedings.

Last Sunday a new division was instituted at Somerville, Mass., there being nearly 100 signers to the charter list. The degree staff that recently exemplified the new ritual for the officers of all the divisions of the State at Boston worked the degrees. County and State officers were present in large numbers, the 800 seats in the hall failing to accommodate the crowd admitted to the hall.

THE LAST SAD RITES.

The last sad rites over the remains of Mrs. Martin Dugan, whose sudden and unexpected death was chronicled last week, took place Saturday morning at St. Louis Bertrand's. A large congregation assembled at the church to mourn their departed friend and follow her to the grave. The solemn and impressive services of the Catholic church were conducted by Rev. Father Fowler, who was the celebrant of the requiem high mass, and the choir rendered several selections. Father Fowler eulogized the life of the dead lady, who had always been a devout and practical Catholic, a loving wife and kind mother, and preached one of the most powerful funeral sermons heard by the writer for many a day. A more impressive funeral has not for a long time been witnessed in Limerick, the sorrowing friends occupying a long train of hacks that followed the remains to St. Louis cemetery, where the last prayers were said by Father Fowler. The pallbearers were Messrs. Charles Cronen, Detective Martin Donohue, Thomas Gilchrist, James Reedy, James Murphy and Michael Gahan.

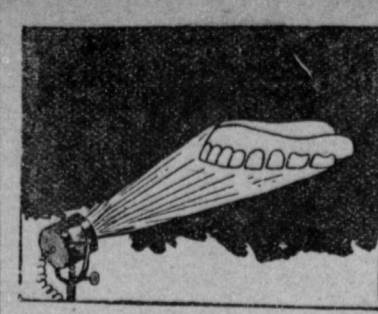

ZENDA DANCING CLUB.

The Zenda Dancing Club will entertain their friends with a select dance at the New Athletic Club Friday evening, November 22. This is but a continuation of the delightful affairs given by the Zenda Club at Fountain Park during the past summer. The Zenda Dancing Club members are John J. Barry, Dan J. Hartnett, John J. Grogan, M. J. Hartnett, Jos. Meixsel, Mal. Shaughnessy, Walter Adams, John Pendergast and John P. McGuire. The members are arranging a handsome souvenir programme for the occasion.

IRISH-AMERICAN SOCIETY.

The Irish-American Society will meet next Thursday night at Hibernian Hall, when initiatory steps will probably be taken for a grand celebration during the winter months. Many have expressed a desire for one similar to that given on Robert Emmet's anniversary last March. President Nevin when seen this week said it was necessary for every member to be present next Thursday night, as the winter programme will then be discussed.

Velvet will be quite as fashionable as last season—indeed a velveteen gown is now considered as necessary in a thorough outfit as a cloth costume. These costumes are made with skirt and coat to match, and on the lines of the cloth gowns, only naturally they should be very simple, even severe in effect.

Only one Magistrate voted in favor of the license, which was refused.

HIBERNIANS.

What They Have Been Doing the Past Week—General News Notes.

Not until the week after next will there be a meeting of Divisions 1, 2 and 4.

Philadelphia divisions report good attendance at meetings and a steady growth in membership.

Three young ladies sold 2,444 tickets for the recent ball given by the Hibernian Rifles of Worcester, Mass.

Division 2 of Buffalo has donated its hall to the Irish Language Society for a card party and entertainment Monday night.

Division 3 meets Monday night at Nelligan's Hall, Nineteenth and Portland avenue. President Cavanaugh will preside.

The newly elected county officers having been installed, a big boom is looked for in the affairs of the order in Buffalo and vicinity.

The Boston Hibernian says of the 247 members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives for 1902 elected this fall 104 are members of the order.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of Somersworth, N. H., entertained their old and young friends with a successful Halloween party and dance Thursday night.

State President Ryan, of Massachusetts, will deliver the lecture under the auspices of the United Irish Societies of New York City tomorrow evening.

Division 1 of Jeffersonville meets Tuesday night. They are working hard for their annual ball. Visitors to this division are sure of a cordial reception.

Don't forget the "blow-out" to be given by Division 4 at the next meeting, November 13. Grogan, Reilly and Langan have the affair in charge and promise a surprise.

Father Sweeney, of the Church of the Sacred Heart, delivered the principal address at the recent celebration of the tenth anniversary of Division 3 at Bridgeport, Conn.

The division in Milltown expected to open a reading room and library in connection with their hall about the first of November. The rooms will be open every evening except Sunday.

The Ancient Order of Hibernians gave a very delightful "smoker" in their hall last week in Dayton, Ohio, which inaugurated a series of social affairs to be given this winter. The attendance was large and the impromptu program very much enjoyed.

Great preparations are being made by Philadelphia for the annual ball of the order. The contest for Chairman resulted in the election of Edward J. Ryan, who received 125 votes, while his opponent, Attorney Brennan, got 41. Both had their champions and lively interest was manifested in the proceedings.

Last Sunday a new division was instituted at Somerville, Mass., there being nearly 100 signers to the charter list. The degree staff that recently exemplified the new ritual for the officers of all the divisions of the State at Boston worked the degrees. County and State officers were present in large numbers, the 800 seats in the hall failing to accommodate the crowd admitted to the hall.

THE LAST SAD RITES.

The last sad rites over the remains of Mrs. Martin Dugan, whose sudden and unexpected death was chronicled last week, took place Saturday morning at St. Louis Bertrand's. A large congregation assembled at the church to mourn their departed friend and follow her to the grave. The solemn and impressive services of the Catholic church were conducted by Rev. Father Fowler, who was the celebrant of the requiem high mass, and the choir rendered several selections. Father Fowler eulogized the life of the dead lady, who had always been a devout and practical Catholic, a loving wife and kind mother, and preached one of the most powerful funeral sermons heard by the writer for many a day. A more impressive funeral has not for a long time been witnessed in Limerick, the sorrowing friends occupying a long train of hacks that followed the remains to St. Louis cemetery, where the last prayers were said by Father Fowler. The pallbearers were Messrs. Charles Cronen, Detective Martin Donohue, Thomas Gilchrist, James Reedy, James Murphy and Michael Gahan.

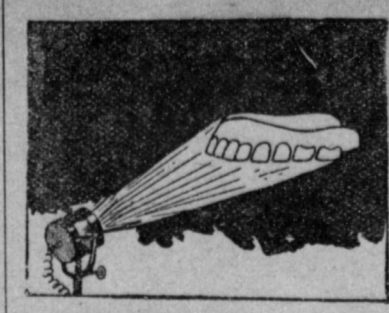

ZENDA DANCING CLUB.

The Zenda Dancing Club will entertain their friends with a select dance at the New Athletic Club Friday evening, November 22. This is but a continuation of the delightful affairs given by the Zenda Club at Fountain Ferry Park during the past summer. The Zenda Dancing Club members are John J. Barry, Dan J. Hartnett, John J. Grogan, M. J. Hartnett, Jos. Meixel, Mal. Shaughnessy, Walter Adams, John Pendergast and John P. McGuire. The members are arranging a handsome souvenir programme for the occasion.

IRISH-AMERICAN SOCIETY.

The Irish-American Society will meet next Thursday night at Hibernian Hall, when initiatory steps will probably be taken for a grand celebration during the winter months. Many have expressed a desire for one similar to that given on Robert Emmet's anniversary last March. President Nevin when seen this week said it was necessary for every member to be present next Thursday night, as the winter programme will then be discussed.

Velvet will be quite as fashionable as last season—indeed a velvet gown is now considered as necessary in a thorough outfit as a cloth costume. These costumes are made with skirt and coat to match, and on the lines of the cloth gowns, only naturally they should be very simple, even severe in effect.
